

Bi5021 INVERTEBRATE SEMINAR, Thursdays 15:00-16:50, A31-238

Schedule for 1st semester of 2019

28.2. No seminar

7.3. Kateřina Němcová (The effect of digestion time on prey DNA detection in the secondary predator) / Jiří Schlaghamerský (Some further impressions from the Arctic island of Spitsbergen: Goose Islands, Skansbukta and the abandoned Russian mining town Pyramiden)

14.3. Ondřej Michálek (About field research in Ndumo Game Reserve, South Africa)

21.3. Andrea Parimuchová (Food-web in the subterranean environment)

28.3. Lenka Petraková, Lenka Sentenská, Radek Michalko and Stano Pekár (Introducing newly granted projects)

4.4. Igor Malenovský (Introduced species of Auchenorrhyncha in the Czech Republic) / Martin Vašíček (Animals of Corsica)

11.4. Maksim Degtiarev (TBA) / Narmin Beydizade (Comparative study of prey capture behaviour of Gnaphosidae)

18.4. Life Sciences seminar (16:00, A11/132) – Glenn King (Thinking Outside the Box - Could Spiders Provide a New Generation of Eco-friendly Insecticides?)

25.4. Tomáš Němec (Stable isotope analysis used to investigate terrestrial snail diets – preliminary results) / Matej Ivan (Phenology model of Central European spiders) / Domagoj Gajski (Arthropod food-web dynamic in a commercial orchard)

2.5. David Kopr (Vliv obnovy výmladkového hospodářství ve dvou lesních porostech v NP Podyjí na vybrané čeledi saproxylických brouků) / Martin Jurák (Journal Club)

9.5. Radek Michalko (The effect of reforestation management on food-webs)

16.5. David Ortiz (Species delimitation and phylogeography of Zodarion styliferum from the Iberian Peninsula – project advances) / Warbota Khum (Biocontrol potential of arboreal spiders in selected forest types)